Jeff,

Although Jim McDonnell says multiple replies are acceptable, I would prefer to have one unified reply from Alaska. Can you take the lead on responding to the survey? We'll gladly provide support if you have any questions.

Thanks,
Rich Pratt

Subject: Survey of States on Availability of MASH Devices

Dear AASHTO Council/Committee Members –

As discussed at the AASHTO Council on Highways and Streets meeting in May, we are seeking your state's input on roadside safety devices or device categories for which you feel there is a lack of available MASH-tested equipment for use on your state's highway system. This information will be used to inform potential extensions of sunset dates in the Joint AASHTO-FHWA Implementation Agreement for MASH (which be accessed here: <https://design.transportation.org/mash-implementation/>).

Please respond to the survey by Friday, July 19:

<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/MASHtestedhardware>

I am sending this survey to multiple committees (including the Council on Highway and Streets, as well as the Committees on Design, Traffic Engineering, and Bridges and Structures) as I anticipate there may be slightly different concerns from the various departments within your agency. Thus, multiple responses from an individual state are OK.

Thank you for your assistance in gathering this information, and please let me know if you have any questions.

Have a safe and happy 4th of July!

-- Jim
